FEATURED RESOURCE

Founded in 2007, the Native Hawaiian Organizations Association (NHOA) supports the community of Native Hawaiian Organizations by highlighting the importance of a self-sufficient, thriving, and economically prosperous Native Hawaiian community. NHOA works closely with its members, the U.S. Congress, affiliate organizations, community partners, and Federal agencies to advance opportunities for the Native Hawaiian community.

FEATURED CUSTOMER

Our customer's technology will result in practical, affordable electric grid storage by commercializing the aqueous organic flow battery technology pioneered at Harvard University. These flow batteries will enable grid electricity storage at half the cost of lithium-ion batteries without any fire risk, all without using any critical materials. As more renewables come online, this technology will be critical to meeting capacity, affordability, and environmental concerns.
